SENATE PASSES TARIFF BILL AFTER LONG WRANGLE

'ROUND

'ROUND

Now let's get this straight if we can.
Four months ago, Albert B. Fall, Harding's Secretary of the Interior, was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, in connection with valuable oil leases.

On Saturday a jury found Doheny "not guilty," of giving Fall, the same bribe of which Fall was convicted.

Reducing that to simple language, Fall accepted the bribe from Doheny, but Doheny didn't give the bribe.

Of course Fall is broken in health and has lost all of his money while Doheny is rolling in wealth. That may be the answer.

Then Doheny shed a few well timed tears when the name of his dead son was mentioned during the trial. A little well placed sobbing, at the direction of defense attorneys, always did have a telling effect upon American juries.

We don't know exactly how Fall stands with the powers that be, at the present time, but our word of warning is given to him with all sincerity that he had better watch his step or someone will manage to convict him of stealing that $100,000 from Doheny.

We would also like to call the attention of those in charge of the Oakland paving graft probe that some thing should be done about all those guilty property owners in Oakland who supplied the money with which those poor "defenseless" politicians were bribed.

All those at present under indictment should be immediately released and the prosecution machinery turned upon those who paid the excessive assessments, many of them losing their homes because of the high cost of paving.

And one of the leaders of political Oakland announced a few days ago that he was aware of the graft money he paid but he "was too busy taking care of the progress of the city to pay any official attention to it."

Like a father who sends his son out to rob a bank to that he can use the money to pay his way through college—or to learn an honest profession.

FINAL RITES
TO BE HELD
TODAY

Mrs. Christina Fritzer Mendoza, 110 South Forty-second street, Richmond, and Henry James Smith, 2910 1-2 Ella street, Berkeley were charged by a coroner's jury last night with responsibility for the death of W. L. Seawright, city recreation director.

The jury found that Seawright had died from injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile being driven in a reckless and careless manner by Mrs. Mendoza and Smith.

As a result, both Mrs. Mendoza and Smith will probably face charges of either manslaughter or reckless driving which are expected to be filed this morning.

At the present time Mrs. Mendoza is charged with reckless driving and is being held in the city jail in lieu of $1000 bail. Smith is free on his own recognizance on a charge of battery.

Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey, of Martinez, was a spectator at the inquest and questioned witnesses. He, however, refused to make any comment.

Chandler Called
J. F. Chandler, 521 Twelfth street was the first witness called to the stand by Coroner Aubrey Wilson. Chandler testified that he was working on the Pullman school grounds and Seawright came to him and chatted with him a few minutes. Later, Chandler said, he heard a noise and saw Seawright.

PARR PLANNING
OFFICE ON HILL

Fred D. Parr, has no intention of building a home in Richmond at the present time, he informed the RECORD-HERALD some time ago when questioned regarding the use he expected to make of a tract of land which he purchased on Little Cerrito Hill.

"No, I am not going to build a home here," he told a RECORD-HERALD representative recently while on the site. "However," he continued, "Isn't that a beautiful view?" and he swept his arm around an arc within the ramble of which could be seen practically the entire San Francisco bay water front.

"What I intend to do," Parr said, "is to build a little clubroom or office building up here to which I can take prospects and show them the strategic location of Richmond harbor."

Parr stated that although he had discussed the idea with a local architect regarding the construction of the building he had not made definite plans to the size or when it would be constructed.

3 CREMATED
WHEN BEERY
PLANE DIVES

ALHAMBRA, March 24.—UP—A pilot and two passengers were burned to death one mile east of here today when a monoplane owned by Wallace Beery, film star, went into a nose dive at an altitude of 500 feet and crashed.

Beery was not in the plane, but his personal pilot, George Mavis, was at the controls. Mavis, his wife, and Lynn H. Hayes were the victims.

The bodies were burned so badly that identification was impossible for more than an hour. Witnesses in the crash said that the ship went into a dive while making a left turn. It shot down as though to land on the highway, but instead of straightening out plunged into the ground.

The plane was still burning when firemen arrived from San Gabriel, but before they could approach the wreckage the gasoline tank exploded.

The monoplane took off from the United airport shortly before the tragedy. Beery was working on a picture at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer studio when informed of the accident.

NO CHANCE OF AGREEMENT
SEEN

WASHINGTON, March 24.—UP—The tariff bill was passed by the senate today.

The vote was 53 to 31. The turmoil and protests from various sections continued with accelerated vigor to the very last, emphasizing the economic conflict between the farming and industrial leaders.

Much ground is yet to be traversed before the bill goes to President Hoover for signature. The senate bill's rates average 39 percent, four percent less than the house rate, and five percent higher than the present law. The senate bill takes from the president his tariff making power and imposes and exports debenture, a debate on exported commodities for the benefit of farmers.

President Hoover has declared against the senate's flexible and debenture action, and the farm board came to his assistance today by denouncing the latter as impracticable and carrying possibilities of foreign embargoes against United States products. These and many rate differences must be adjusted in conference between representatives of the house and senate.

The vote showed a majority of 11 senators, which is larger than the bill will get if the conference committee, as expected, cuts out the senate's debenture and flexibility plans.

Senator Borah, leader of the coalition which once re-wrote the bill downward and then lost control to the Smoot-Grundy high tariff forces, served notice he supported the measure chiefly because of the debenture, which he believes is necessary to extend the benefits of the protective policy to the farmers.

70 Million Revenue
The bill will increase governmental customs revenues by only $70,000,000 a year, as passed by the senate. Its opponents claim its cost when passed on to the consuming public will be many millions.

ORMSBY WILL FACE COURT
ON APRIL 14

OAKLAND, March 24.—UP—Cromwell Ormsby, formerly Althea McPherson's attorney, now under indictment on a charge of bribery in connection with the Oakland graft inquiry, will go to trial April 14.

At his arraignment proceeding today, Judge Fred V. Woods, refused to advance the date of the trial, due to the number of cases on the calendar, although Ormsby pleaded to go to trial as early as possible.

Ormsby was to be arraigned tomorrow on a separate indictment charging him of bribery in connection with a still for which protection money was paid.

Deputy Sheriff J. L. David was also under indictment in the latter case.

The District Attorney, Earl Warren was at present at Dallas, Tex., where he is in conference with Floyd Van Noy, paying man who is said to be about to expose more "inside dealings" between Oakland officials and paying contractors.

Van Noy was at liberty at present on a writ of habeas corpus, and was expected soon to return to Oakland.

SEWER PLAN WILL BE STUDIED

A general storm sewer system for the City of Richmond will be considered by the city council at a special meeting to be held Wednesday evening at 7:30.

The matter was first brought up by Councilman John N. Hackett, who stated that he thought the city should be getting action on the proposed storm sewer, so that conditions as existed the past winter would not be repeated.

Councilman A. B. Hinkley said that last winter sewage was being forced into the streets, and these conditions should not exist. The speaker was decidedly in favor of action.

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman told the council he could have the plans and specifications for the work ready in about two weeks.

The information was given out that after the contract was awarded that it would be two years before the property owners would have to make any payments, and the amounts due would be extended over a period of five years.

A comprehensive survey of sewer conditions in Richmond was completed a short time ago under the direction of Hoffman. This survey shows a study of conditions in all parts of Richmond and the type of sewers that will be necessary to correct conditions.

MASS MEET
ON CENSUS

The necessity of seeing that a thorough enumeration of the people of the city, under the new federal census, which will start April 2, was brought to the attention of the council last evening by Mayor A. L. Paulsen.

A mass meeting composed of the president and secretary of the service clubs, fraternal organizations, foreign organizations, will be held with the council next Monday and plans to see that every house in the city is enumerated will be made.

In the census of 1910, the federal census was almost a farce as it gave Richmond a population of 16,846. It was generally admitted at the time that the population should have been over 20,000.

The new census starts April 2 and continues for two weeks and so far but 15 enumerators have been provided for, which is considered far short of the necessary number in order that the work may be done properly.

It is likely that a plan will be worked out, so that each block may be canvassed by representatives of the different organizations so that the enumerators will be aided to this extent.

El Cerrito Council

MODERN BUILDING WILL BE CONSTRUCTED AT ONCE
BY BURG BROTHERS FIRM

In keeping with their policy of keeping abreast of the progress of the city, announcement was made yesterday that the L. H. Schrader company, now located at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue will occupy a new $55,000 home at Twenty-fourth street and Macdonald avenue soon.

Construction of the new business building, to be one of the most beautiful and modern in the bay region will be started within a week or ten days and then rushed to completion so that the furniture company can occupy it not later than the middle of July.

According to Herbert Schrader, president of the company, which is Richmond's pioneer furniture store, having been located here 28 years ago, many new improvements are to be added to the store. The structure has been designed to take care of the needs of a modern furniture store, and will be so equipped that house furnishings of all kinds can be shown off to the best advantage.

Burg To Build
The building to be built by Burg Bros., will occupy the northwest corner of Macdonald avenue and Twenty-fourth street. It will be L shaped, with a frontage of 50 feet on Macdonald avenue and 150 feet on Twenty-fourth street. Basil Spurr is the contractor. The furniture company has taken a long term lease on the structure.

The ground floor will have 10,000 feet of floor space available while an additional 5000 feet will be provided by a mezzanine floor. The building is being so constructed that additional floors may be added at a later date if desired.

Architecture will be strictly Spanish with a stucco finish. Specially designed oval top windows will be installed to permit the excellent display of drapes and similar articles. The windows will open onto display space which will be an innovation for the bay region in display windows.

Imposing Addition
The building to be of steel and brick construction will be an imposing addition to the Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue section.

Recognized as the population center of the city of Richmond, this area is fast attracting live business men of the city.

Two automobile firms recently moved their sales and display rooms to Barrett avenue and Twenty-third street and leaders of the city yesterday saw the move of the Schrader company as an indication of future business houses which will probably rise within that section in a short time.

Population Center
Surveys have shown that more traffic passes Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue than any other intersection in the city. This indicates beyond a doubt that the intersection is the population center of the city.

At the same time, when the survey for the new Hospital Richmond was conducted, it was found that the place where the hospital now stands was the most accessible from both the industrial and residential sections of the city.

According to Spurr, all plans and specifications for the new Schrader building have been completed and actual construction will be under way as soon as several minor details are taken care of.

Many delegates from outside cities will be present at the convention.

Spectacular
Fire At Sump

Huge black columns of smoke, emanating from the western part of Richmond annex, and covering the sky all over the east bay with its haze, yesterday caused considerable anxiety to local residents.

Hours passed, and still the smoke continued to arise unabated. Men, women and children scanned the sky with anxious looks until the word spread that the smoke was not a revival of the San Francisco fire, but was merely an oil sump being burned at the Bates and Borland plant.

The sump, it was reported, contained oil that has been collecting over a period of years.

TWO SONNETS FOR J. RAMSAY MACDONALD

I. Invocation

Oh, let me stand upon the earth's dim edge
Where sky and water meet, and reach my hand
To all who live and dream, let me command
My heart to love a world, not just a hedge,
Beauty and art glow from a new world's ledge,
Wisdom and laughter dwell in every land;
These let me take, and to the barren sand
For these, my over-fruitfulness I pledge.

The gate that Man erected when he crawled Across his little earth—slow—pace by pace—
Must be torn down, for now we go on wings;
A god of deeper vision now has called,
Who scorns not strangers for their alien race;
Then hail the peace that understanding brings!

II. Reveille

Oh, come, my brothers, end war's harsh assault!
Too long the blood of man has stained
the earth,
Too long the sons of high and lowly birth
Have agonized, to punish petty harms;
Too long has hatred swept our towns
and farms,
Dispelling kindly thoughts and love
and mirth,
Tearing our moral fibre, 'tis it worth
The days of darkness, ache of mothers'
arms?

A small device, and lo, across the world,
A message runs bearing good will to man;
A twist of giant wings, and clouds are curled

Around a ship that sails an airy span:
The veil of distance from the earth is lorn
Let "peace on earth" from war's dark womb be born!

Are Women in Business to Stay?

ONE sense, the answer to the above question is obviously "yes." Women as a sex are not in the least likely to withdraw from the business world.
But how about women as individual workers?

Are they business "stayers"? Or is it true—as William D. Camp, President of Executive Service Corporation declared in New York the other day—that "seventy-five per cent. of women still leave their jobs for marriage, ten per cent leave for other reasons and only about ten per cent. remain permanently in business?" (Ed. note: What happens to the missing five per cent?)

Many business women would like to know how Mr. Camp obtained his figures.
They would like to know, also,
the factual basis for his assertions that
"the average young office worker does not want to continue after she is married, except temporarily. I have found that married women who work do so intermittently, to pay for fur coats, to help furnish their homes or to get money to educate their children."

If this summary of the situation is correct, here is one answer to the argument that employers do not give the equal women chances of advancement to those offered young men. Employers cannot afford to do so, if most young women are only short-time workers. But other students of modern business do not agree with Mr. Camp.

ganizations women of promise on an equal basis with men."

More interesting, even, than Mr.
Camp's obvious belief that the business woman of to-day is not a bird of passage, is a fact-finding report on the subject. Such a report has just been made by Dr. Margaret Elliott of the University of Michigan on the basis of a survey of the occupational history of 14,000 members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which is believed to be an excellent cross section of the American business woman group. The Federation's ideal membership is 50,000 women, organized in every State but one, and now observing National Business Women's Week.

"The 14,000 women we studied," declares Dr. Elliott, "have had on the average thirteen years of work experience. Certainly no one can fairly say that they have used business as a stopgap to fill in the years between school
and marriage."

OUR personal observation certainly supports the belief that more and more women are not allowing marriage to interfere with business —that is to say, with their jobs in the business world. And it seems to us profoundly inconsistent to argue—as does a certain type of employer—that on the one hand, it's no use pushing a girl because as soon as she's worth anything she marries and leaves, while,
on the other hand, business is no place for a married woman! Here's the logical male for you!

By the way, Mr. Camp, the gentleman who challenges most sharply the business girl's willingness to stay on her job, estimates that the average length of time any office worker, man or woman, stays in one job is two years.
Elliott seems not to be limited to ONE sex, in the business world!

Few grown-ups have lost their enthusiasm for ice cream and other frozen delights. Because of the time and labor entailed in their preparation frozen creams and puddings were formerly reserved for company and special occasions.
No child ever enjoyed them often enough to tire of them.

With the mechanical refrigerator in general use these once difficult desserts become easier
to make than pie
or cake and rival
the prepared pudd-ings and gelatins in point of time.
Excessive use of sugar must be guarded against, for a too sweet mixture does not lend itself to perfect freezing.

The simplest frozen dessert is one in which sweetened fruit or jam is folded into whipped cream and placed in the refrigerator tray to freeze without further thought on the part of the maker. The one cup of heavy cream whipped, fold in lightly one-fourth cup strawberry jam or sweetened strawberries and a few grains of salt. Turn into the freezing tray and leave two to three hours.

Not all the refrigerator dainties make themselves, many of them demanding frequent attention. But when special materials are combined the rest is merely a matter of time. In these gelatin or marshmallow serve as thickening agents, sometimes cream is relied upon and sometimes milk and fruit juices supply the liquid.

Gelatin and cream add to the cream-iness of

One-half cup sugar
One pint heavy cream
Freezing time: four to five hours
Servings: six Soak the gelatin in the cold water two minutes and then dissolve it in the hot coffee with the sugar. When thoroughly dissolved, set aside to cool and thicken a little. Whip the cream and fold carefully into the thickening coffee mixture. Spread into the freezing trays and freeze four to five hours, or until firm and delicious.

The coffee infusion must be strong and rich, and preferably fresh made to serve the finest frozen coffee.
Dessert is most tempting.

Marshmallows combined with cream,
form another refrigerator treat.

Lessons in Thrift

TOM received 15 cents each week to put in the school bank. "That will teach him to be saving," his mother said. But when Tom started out on his own, he was far from saving.
As a matter of fact, he spent every cent
just as soon as he received it. "Money just goes through his fingers," his mother complained.

Mrs. Jackson gave her son a very different training in thrift. She gave him an allowance of 50 cents out of which he had to pay for his own movie ticket every Saturday. If he didn't remember to put his 25 cents aside, she went without his show at the end of the week.
After he had been receiving an allowance for a time he expressed a desire for a bicycle. "We can't afford to give you one now," his mother told him,
"but you could save up for it." So John saved every cent that he could, and even did odd jobs occasionally, thus swelling his savings. And what a proud and happy day it was when he could afford to buy his bicycle!

Go out in the future and see. The Millard Government is all ready.
The Cabinet is in session in that and that corner." His words were like a bombshell. The plot was discovered, ridiculed, crushed in one blow. And the Tiger won.

Putting a stated sum of money in the bank each week, as if one were performing a religious rite, gives little training in thrift. If we want our children to learn to be saving, we must give them experience in saving for a purpose, and for a purpose that is very real to them. When a five-year-old, his mother's best friend, saved for a college education or a good start in life, the whole affair has little meaning to him. But when he saves for his mother's birthday present or for a coveted cowboy suit, then he appreciates what saving means. Give the child enough of these satisfying experiences and the idea of thrift will be solid.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

I MET a very distinguished lawyer
the other day, a man who ran for Governor in his own State,
and he told me what he thought was the trouble with me. "You fellows with imagination and the gift of language need a balance."

He explained to me that the
of his clients had just been in to see him, and he had called this man a fool, much to the caller's disgust.
"He said he would have to have a lawyer who called him a fool."

"You will stand for my calling you a fool," said my friend, "and you'll be back to see me this afternoon."

he was promoted to General of the American Armies, with four stars, investigation appears below. Shake well before reading.)

CHAIRMAN—Now, Mrs. Yimmick, will you please describe the benefits of Prohibition?

MRS. YIMMICK—For one thing,
there have been fewer church picnics
broken up by red ants.

CHAIRMAN—What else?

MRS. Y.—There are more two-pants suits owned by American workmen than ever before.

CHAIRMAN—Proceed.

MRS. Y.—Fifteen million radios have been placed in American homes
since the wet battery was abolished.

CHAIRMAN—What other beneficial effects have you noticed?

MRS. Y.—The poorhouse at Palm Beach was abolished from lack of pa-tronnage.

CHAIRMAN—Any other evidences of prosperity?

MRS. Y.—Yes. Since Prohibition the gate to heaven has been split up four for one and is now a revolving door.

Tales That Tables Tell

By Alma Zais

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

SPRING tables are not far in the distance. Can't you feel it?
What plans have you made for a series of fresh, colorful, joyous settings that shall shake the family out of their winter routine of dining and let them that the most enchanting season of the year is here?

Do you, for instance, become acquainted with the newest cloths and napkins—or lapkins—as some of the late arrivals are called?

And did you know that such an unusual pattern as the one illustrated had been offered to the home-keeping wife?

It is a gold and silver cloth of linen damask, truly typical of spring. For against a symbolic pattern of budding things, graceful, carving in leaves unfold with the effect of golden sunlight.
The inner field is bordered with a formalized pattern of full-blown flowers—
a perfect background for the sterling or in conventional daisy design.

Servic plates, butter plates and objects of transparent crystal, a golden amber shade are used instead of china and white glass. The bread tray, salt and pepper shakers and the flower bowl are all of sterling—any the contrasting color note is achieved by the bouquet of African daisies in all shades of yellow deepening to rose and a flame-like coral.

Now about the "lapkins," those ample, oblong-shaped napkins which men find
are more easily controlled on the knees
than the usual squares—and so adore them. Usually the lapkin is about the size and shape of a guest towel—and you will discover that they are just right for smooth, slender folding when at the laundry, just right for easy unfolding when in use. The design of the linen damask is woven to conform with the changed shape of course—and many homes are enjoying this new type of napkin immensely.

A few general notes on linens to help you in making new spring selections
are the following:

The linen chest of a well-regulated household should contain two white linen damask cloths—one large and one medium; one dozen large napkins and one dozen in the smaller size.

Then there may be two colored damask sets having matching linens and napkins, and two small linen damask cloths (either white or colored) with small napkins.

In addition, to this it is pleasant to have an oblong luncheon set of five pieces and a dozen luncheon napkins to match, two tea cloths and a dozen tea napkins. This collection provides sizes and variety for daily use and a fair sprinkling of company dinner, bridge luncheons and teas for the average small family.

A Bottle Shower

A BOTTLE SHOWER makes an interesting offering to the bride-elect. When extending the invitation the hostess informs each guest what bottle she is to provide for the shower and request that it be delivered at her home the day preceding the shower.

The idea is to dress the bottles in crepe paper to represent the wedding party, so instruct a guest, for instance, to bring a bottle of vanilla extract dressed as the bride; another a small bottle of catsup dressed as the groom, and so on until the party is complete.

At a recent shower of this kind the bottles used were as follows: a bottle of chili sauce figured as the clergyman, mayonnaise dressing the best man, lemon extract the maid of honor and Worcestershire sauce the bride's dad. Small bottles of red and green cherries were used, respectively, for the flower girls dressed in pink and Nile green.

There may be as many bridesmaids and ushers as are necessary to furnish a contribution for each guest. For the bridesmaids use bottles of olives and pickles—each a different variety. The stuffed olives may be dressed in pink,
plain olives in orchid, mixed pickles in yellow and so on, using colors to form a charming harmony. For the ushers small bottles of ginger ale and grape juice may be used. A small bottle of coloring liquid may be transformed into a ring-bearer who carries the ring on a tiny cushion.

Household Inventions

With a new water bath to be heated over two burners of a gas stove several articles of food can be cooked in separate receptacles at the same time.

An unbreakable all-rubber scraper
has been designed for cleaning dishes without injury to them.

Oil Dripping Needs Watching

One of the things that motorists addicted to giving their cars good care cannot understand is the indifference of certain car owners to those blotches of oil that are found on the garage floor when the car is backed out. Oil thus lost means the time has come to do some tightening of crankcase bolts or to replace a gasket, according to the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association.

Whether the woman harasser is more harassing than the man harasser Roscoe Karns is reluctant to say, despite the fact that he might qualify as an expert on the subject. Karns was with the show, "The Front Page," in which he had to deal with an editor. Editors, of course, are supposed to be expert harassers, so far as reporters are concerned. From this production he went into the Pathe picture, "This Thing Called Love," featuring Edmund Lowe and Constance Bennett in which he interprets the part of a husband who is rather fond of seeking pleasure in the company of other women. Unfortunately he has a wife who doesn't see eye to eye with him on affairs of this sort and hysterically reminds him of her disapproval on the least provocation.

While the title of the picture indicates that it has something to do with love, in the case of Karns, love seems to be a thing heard of in titles and books only. Opposite Mr. Karns, playing the part of his shrewish wife is Zasu Pitts and the cause of the dissension is Carmelita Geraghty who does not hesitate to flirt with other women's husbands even in their own homes. Stuart Erwin and Ruth Taylor are another matrimonially hand-cut pair, while the he-vampire is interpreted by John Roche. The picture will close today at the Fox California theater.

Gum Included In British Rations

LONDON.—Tommy Atkins may be caught chewing gum on parade, for the latest report on the health of the British army states that "chewing sweets" will be included in the soldiers' iron rations.

ELLENVILLE, N. Y.—Fire Chief C. G. A. Fischer has never received any salary in the 45 years he has been with the department; nor does he want any. "It's a hobby with me," says the chief. He even buys his own uniform and equipment.

Fun Given For English Curfew

CHERTSEY, England.—Curfew shall ring tonight and every other night here between Michaelmas Day and Lady Day, for William Kempton has given a $500 fund to keep the bells tolling that inspired the poem, "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

20,000 Miles As "Blind Baggage"

HAMBURG.—Tried in a local court on a charge of vagrancy, a 30-year old laborer confessed that in five months he had covered 20,000 miles riding "blind baggage" on a German railway train.

New Auto Theft Record In Berlin

BERLIN.—Automobiles are getting to be a difficult problem for Berlin; seven of them were stolen the other night, establishing a new record for the German capital.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

LAUGHS, TUNES APLENTY IN PICTURE

"Bigger and better"—to borrow an ancient and often abused movie slogan—briefly describes Radio Pictures' version of the popular stage success "Hit The Deck" which opens tomorrow at the Fox-California theater.

Although the Vincent Youmans musical comedy established box office records throughout the United States, the stage offering could only suggest the immense scope, color and narrative value of "Hit The Deck" in its present celluloid form.

The "Hallelujah" song is an example of what is meant. It was a solo on the stage. In Radio Pictures' interpretation it becomes a lengthy sequence—a Negro spiritualist meeting which involved 100 negro vocalists, dancers and players; and introduced to film fans the colorful Marguerita Padula, a black-face singer whose voice has a startling range of four octaves.

This same parallel may be expected in other comparisons of the old and new "Hit The Deck."

CLUES FAIL IN CROCKETT MURDER

CROCKETT, March 24. — Up against a blank wall, so far as clues are concerned, authorities late tonight had no inkling as to the identity of the person or persons who murdered William Bailey, 56, night watchman at the California-Hawaiian sugar refinery, early yesterday morning.

The investigation is being conducted by Deputy Sheriff Steve Neilson, R. A. McNamara and Dike Joslin, under the supervision of Sheriff R. R. Veale.

Neilson and McNamara boarded the liner Maui, which was docked at the refinery Saturday night, at San Francisco this afternoon on the theory that the watchman may have been shot by a member of the crew who had been accosted by Bailey while attempting to approach the ship.

Crew Questioned

The deputies questioned all members of the crew but obtained no clues as to the identity of the murderer.

Quartermaster P. H. Harmon, of the Maui declared he heard two shots in quick succession shortly after he went on watch at midnight and thought he heard a missile fly directly over the bow of the boat.

The only clues police are in possession of, is the butt of a cigar and some footprints etched in the mud. The tracks, however, lead away from the dock, and tend to contradict the theory that a member of the crew of the Maui is the murderer.

Watchman Unarmed

The watchman was unarmed, and the theory that he had been the victim of a robbery was discredited.

Police assert they found evidence on the fence which surrounds the property, that leads to the belief the intruder was climbing over when he was surprised by the watchman and fired upon him.

The bullet entered Bailey's breast after ricocheting from his suspender buckle, ranged downward through both lungs to his left side, and glanced upward from a bone to his left shoulder.

Sheriff Veale was in Crockett late tonight continuing his investigations.

The watchman was a native of England, where he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Welton.

The body was found shortly before four o'clock in the morning after he had failed to ring at the main gate at one o'clock, in accordance with the schedule.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Martinez.

Cyclist Loses Foot To Save Man

MARTINEZ, March 24.—Great Love Hath No Man—and although Melvin Lavezzola, 21, did not lay down his life for a friend, today he is a cripple for life as the result of his heroic attempt to save the life of an aged pedestrian in Walnut Creek yesterday.

Lavezzola, riding his motorcycle, was confronted with the choice of running down an aged man or wrecking his motor.

He chose the latter, and in falling, the machine mangled his foot so terribly that surgeons at the Martinez hospital, where he was taken, were forced to amputate it.

An ambulance was called to Walnut Creek from Martinez, but before it reached there, the injured youth had been placed on a fire truck and rushed to a local hospital.

Sealskin Coats Prevalent, But Prices Still High

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 22.—(U.P.)—Here is news to buoy the sagging hearts of the predatory sightholders, the gold diggers of Broadway and way points.

Sealskin coats, in the raw, are almost 900 per cent more plentiful today than in 1911.

But warning is given against allowing the trowels to fall, for it will take as much digging as ever. They are not likely to get any cheaper.

This was the report brought here today by Henry O'Malley, United States fish commissioner, who has just returned from the Pribiloff Islands, in Alaskan waters, where next winter's coats for good little girls are trickling among their native flocks.

Under government conservation measures, O'Malley said, the seal herd has multiplied from 130,000 in 1911 to approximately 900,000 in 1929. During that period Uncle Sam has sold 40,000 pelts at auction in St. Louis for $2,600,000.

The current retail price of $800 to $1,000 has been established for a number of years, furries say. There is, however, a slackening in the demand for genuine seal, due it was explained to the increasing popularity of Hudson seal, lamb and ermine.

Hudson seal, a leader, is made from the pelts of the lowly muskrat, it was stated, which is being propagated in large numbers in Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Canada.

San Pablan Fined In Justice Court

Eugene V. Greene of San Pablo was fined $200 by Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of reckless driving.

The principal increases are generally higher rates on agricultural commodities, and scattered increases in rates on industrial items. Sugar, wool, rayon, cotton, were given higher rates, as were cement and bricks. The senate after several hot battles left hides, boots and shoes on the free list, but the house bill carries a rate on these articles.

The senate tomorrow will take up the public buildings bill already passed by the house, designed to stimulate industry as a part of President Hoover's prosperity campaign, and also the agricultural appropriation bill.

Muscle Shoals

The Norris bill for government operation of the $150,000,000 power plant on the Tennessee river at Muscle Shoals, Ala., passed by congress two years ago and pocket vetoed by President Coolidge, was placed before the senate as the unfinished business following the tariff vote, and will be taken up

CITY HONORS FR. GRIFFIN AT RITES

The city of Richmond yesterday paid homage to the late Father P. M. Griffin, at one of the most impressive funerals ever held here.

Services were held at the St. Mark's Catholic church, which was founded by the late priest. The church was packed to capacity by members of his parish, friends of the clergy and many others who had come in contact with him.

A section in the center of the church was reserved for visiting nuns and priests from surrounding cities and towns. The casket stood at the foot of the altar, with burning candles at either side.

Impressive Eulogy

Rev. John Hartnett of San Francisco said solemn requiem high mass and Rev. Richard Collins of San Francisco gave an impressive eulogy.

Rev. William Quirk of Elmhurst, acted as master of services; Rev. John Hennessey of Berkeley, served as deacon; Rev. Barnabas Cantillon of Oakland acted as sub-deacon; Rt. Rev. Bishop Armstrong of Sacramento presided in the sanctuary, assisted by Monsignor James P. Cantwell, chancellor of the archdiocese, and Very Rev. Monsignor P. L. Ryan, vicar general.

A priest's choir, assisted by a boys' choir from the Sacred Heart church in Oakland, led by Rev. Edgar Boyle sang during the ceremony. Miss Mae Lynch was organist.

Groups Attend

Organizations attending the services in a body included Berkeley Council, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Ladies Aid, Women's Catholic order of Foresters, Young Men's Institute and Young Ladies' Institute.

Priests who had served as assistants at St. Mark's church since its erection in 1912 served as active pall bearers. They were: Timothy Galvin of Pleasanton, Michael McLaughlin, Jeremiah Conaway, Timothy O'Connor and Harry Collins of San Francisco and William Cleary of Richmond. Honorary pall bearers were: Michael Bradley, Dan Murphy, Christie McCormack, Norbeck and Norris, voted with 26 Democrats against the bill in both cases, those who left their party have consistently sided with the school of tariff thru which they aligned on the final vote.

There is little chance that the widely different house and senate bills can be compromised, and the compromise accepted, if it is acceptable, in less than three weeks. It may take much longer, as western senators obtained today from the prospective conferees a promise that they would not discard the senate's debenture without bringing the question up in the senate again for a vote.

3 Day Delay

Republican house leaders have promised to delay action in sending the bill to conference for three days, to give members time to study both bills.

The senate's action clears the way for passage of the necessary governmental appropriation bills, and possible prohibition legislation, after a few days' breathing space.

The debate was marked by violent denunciations, and no defense of the measure. The opponents, Walsh and Connolly, democrats, and LaFollette and Borah, republicans, left no doubt they regarded the measure as one which would bring disaster to the republican party in the November elections, it finally enacted.

Veto Predicted

Walsh said the bill was already dead. He predicted President Hoover would veto it. Borah carefully refrained from making threats, but he indicated he would not support it if it came from conference with the out debenture. LaFollette and Connolly based their opposition chiefly to the increases in industrial rates, which they contended were violations of the president's mandate for a limited revision with farm relief as a chief aim. Connolly predicted the debenture and flexible repeal amendments of the senate would be shorn from it in conference.

LaFollette excoriated the rates finally written by the senate as the result of a "trading mart" with the most powerful lobbyists winning. He compared it with the Payne-Aldrich bill which republicans wrote in 1909 over the protests of the elder Senator LaFollette, his father.

following a short recess.

The farm board's action against the debenture was announced by Chairman Alexander Legge, who said the judgment of the board was that it would result to the detriment of American farmers. He pointed out that Former Premier Lloyd George, British liberal party leader, has threatened in parliament an embargo against American wheat if an American surplus were to be dumped there. When the French government recently placed a two cent export debenture on some surplus grain, other nations went on a strike against it.

ADJOURNMENT OF NAVY MEET ASKED

LONDON, March 24.—UP—A six months adjournment of the naval conference was suggested to Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald tonight by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy as a means of saving the limitation efforts from failure.

Meanwhile, Grandi said, France and Italy would attempt to reach an amicable understanding between themselves on the question of parity which has deadlocked the conference.

On adjourning for six months, the Italian foreign minister suggested the five powers should undertake not to increase their ship-building programs until the conference reconvened.

Grandi asked also that MacDonald agree to use his good offices if France and Italy desired.

Macdonald was said to be considering the proposal carefully. It was understood Grandi emphasized that the proposed adjournment should not prevent the conclusion of a three power pact between Great Britain, the United States, and Japan.

He was represented as feeling merely that the prolongation of the present stalemate would only make matters worse and that if failure were registered at a penary session it would occasion undesirable and even dangerous recriminations between the powers.

Grandi's suggestions were revealed after a day of conversations in which he held the center of attention. Before conferring with MacDonald he had lunch with Senator David A. Reed of the American delegation.

THOMAS NINE WINS BALL TITLE

By defeating the Oakland Eagles 5 to 4 Sunday, the Thomas Motors nine gained the title for the 1930 season of the Oakland Winter baseball league.

Aside from its significance as the final contest of the league, Sunday's contest was probably the most spectacular battle of the entire league season. The score was tied 4 to 4 at the end of nine innings, and two more periods were required to decide who should own this year's pennant.

The visitors did most of the hitting Sunday, but failed in bunching their hits so as to produce a large score. The outfielders of both squads were exceptionally alert Sunday, preventing several aspiring sluggers from reaching first.

Eagles Start
The scoring was started in the first canto by the Eagles, who garnered one run in that period. However, the Richmondites retaliated in the second inning by gathering two counters. The Oaklanders scored again in the third, fifth, and seventh innings. The Motors came back strong in the eighth to tie the score 4 to 4. The contenders for the title fought on for an extra period without any change in the score. The locals at last gained the winning run in the eleventh, when Carl Kamb of the Motors crossed the home plate.

St. Campana started on the mound for the Thomas squad, and held his own until the seventh, when Carl Kamb assumed the responsibility as twirler for the locals. Kamb held the visitors scoreless until the end of the contest. Vierra checked for the Oakland team. Gaudoni received for the locals, while Warren held the position behind the plate for the visitors.

Mattho Hits
Mattho was the main swatter for the local nine, gathering the only home run for the Richmond outfit. McCoy hit a three bagger for the Motors. The homers for the Oakland Eagles were made by Matthews and Fernandez. Out of six trips to the plate, Matthews gained a total of four hits.

BOAT RACES TO BE HELD HERE APRIL 6

Outboard races will be held on the inner harbor April 6 under the auspices of the Richmond Motor Boating association. Several boats from Berkeley are expected to compete with the local craft.

Plans will be made for the races at a meeting of the local Outboard Boating association in the Hotel Roma toward the latter part of the week.

Several local sportsmen are expected to attend the state outboard motor trials at Sacramento next Sunday. The meet will start at 8 o'clock. The local boatsmen who intend to visit Sacramento next week end are George Lauritzen, commodore of the Richmond Boating association, C. E. Marshall, and Dick Burkhalter. These local men are not yet certain if they will enter their outboards in the meet. Anyone wishing to learn the details of the meet should get in touch with George Lauritzen, who will head the local delegation.

Almost a dozen outboard motor boats used the facilities of the inner harbor Sunday.

High Track Meet Again Postponed

The much postponed inter-class track meet at Richmond Union High school scheduled for today will again be postponed, according to Phil Hempler, track coach at the local high school. The reason for the postponement is to allow the high school athletes to recuperate from the effects of strenuous training.

Plans are also being formed by the high school athletic directors for an alumni meet in the near future. The alumni clash is an annual classic on the track program at Richmond Union High school.

Gym Classes Postponed

The women's and men's gym classes did not meet last night due to the death of W. L. Seawright, director of both classes. The classes will be held as usual next week in the Roosevelt Junior high school gymnasium.

SAN PABLO 5 BEATS CARDS

The San Pablo basketball squad defeated the Cardinals of Richmond last night at the Y. M. C. A. by a score of 32 to 23.

The Richmond team put up a stiff fight but were unable to overcome an early lead established by the San Pablo five.

Moitza scored for the winners with 12 points and Cooper made nine points for the losers.

SAN PABLO—32; DeCourtin, 10; Moitza, 12, forwards; Dorsey, 2, center; Vierra, 4, sub-center; Nevis, 2, and Blount, guards.

CARDINALS—23; McKenzie, 2; Baxter, 2, forwards; Heise, 3, center; Cooper, 9, Degnan, 7, guards.

COREY 9 BEATS FRUITVALERS

The Giorgat Tires of Oakland failed to appear for their scheduled contest with the Corey Garage nine Sunday at El Cerrito. However, a group of boys from Fruitvale stepped into the breach, and were defeated 9 to 8 by the Corey aggregation.

Both teams failed to maintain a large margin anytime during the contest. "Lefty" Brendel pitched a neat brand of ball for the local team, while Robert San Miguel as usual received Brendel's hot ones without any trouble.

C. Mattori did the chucking for the visitors. Nelson received for the Fruitvale boys.

Campolo Loses Decision To Johnny Risko

NEW YORK, March 24 (U.P.)—Zittorio Campolo, towering Argentine heavyweight, and Johnny Risko of Cleveland met for the second time within a month here tonight and the decision was given to Risko.

After apparently defeating Campolo at Miami on February 27, Risko was given a draw with the South American but tonight Campolo clearly proved his superiority over the Cleveland boxer by only to have the decision go to Johnny.

A disappointing crowd of less than 12,000 witnessed the return bout and cheered Risko at the finish as they did throughout the bout even when Campolo was jarring him with punishing rights to the body and head.

The decision was not unanimous as one judge and referee, Arthur Donovan, who voted for Risko and the other judge for Campolo. The United Press score gave Campolo five rounds, Risko three with two even.

Youthful Golf Pro Burned To Death In Bed

SAN RAFAEL, March 24 (U.P.)—A tragic death by fire today terminated the life of John Grady, 23, golf professional at Meadow Country club, Marin county, and one of the most popular young professionals in the state.

Grady was pulled unconscious and horribly burned from his flaming bed which a cigaret had ignited, by his father, James Grady.

The father rushed him to Cottage Hospital, but it was too late to save the youth's life, and he died without regaining consciousness.

Grady had been professional at the Marin Golf and Country club, the Petaluma Golf and Country club, and had competed in many state tournaments.

He was a graduate of San Rafael high school.

EMERYVILLE TO PLAY HIGH NINE

The Richmond union high school varsity diamond squad will journey to Emeryville today to clash with the Emeryville high school nine.

Although the local high school baseball athletes lost their two first games in the Alameda County Athletic league, the standard set by the Richmond high school boys this season seems to be higher than that of previous years. They have been unlucky in being unable to bunch their hits. If the local hitters can get into condition before the season ends, Richmond Union high school may still have a chance to come out near the top of the league.

Either Lemon or Babich will be on the mound for the local high school aggregation, Rosano or Ball will do the receiving for the local boys.

The contest is scheduled to take place at four o'clock today on the Emeryville high school diamond.

Local Bowlers Open Season

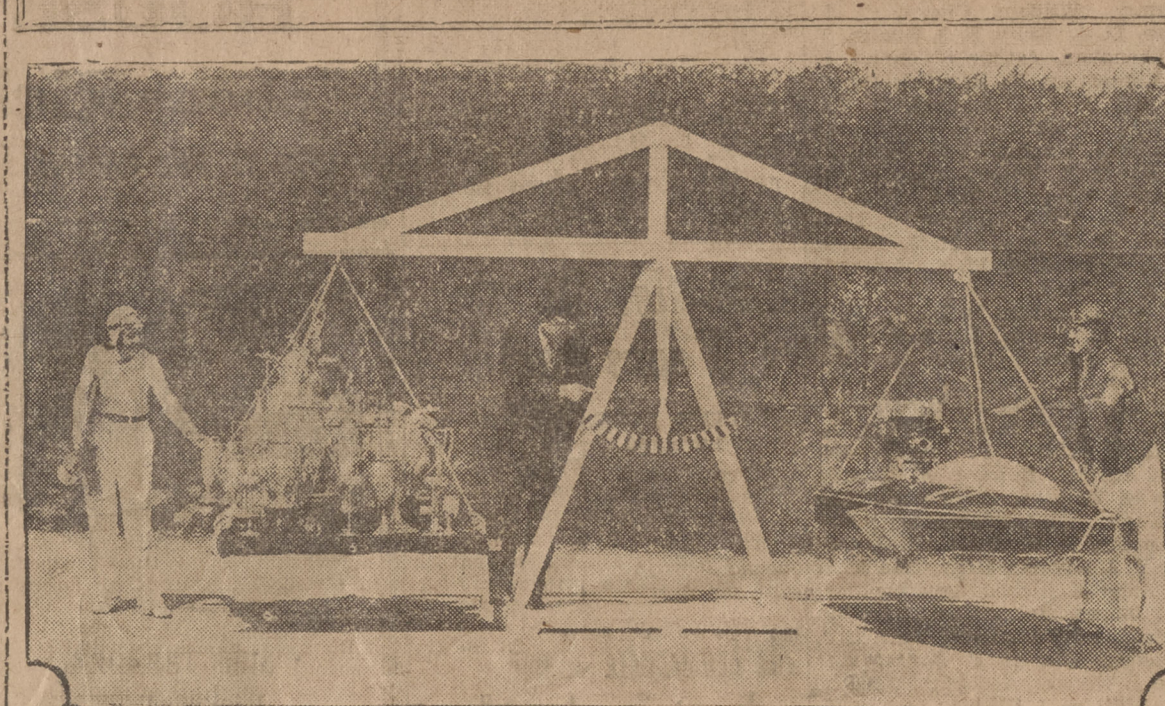

Bowling season is on around the east bay, and the Richmond bowlers are taking a very important part in the sport.

In the automobile league in San Francisco J. DeBaeer and C. Warren of Richmond are figuring prominently. DeBaeer holds fifth place in a field of 83 contestants with an average of 183.

Dr. W. J. Long and R. Kalin are taking prominent parts in the San Francisco Examiner tournament.

SOCCER CLUB IN FINALS

As a result of its victory by default over the Hayward soccer team Sunday, the Richmond Soccer club will battle with the Phoenix club of Oakland next Sunday in the finals of the Junior Eastbay Soccer league.

The Phoenix club gained the right to meet the Richmond boys next week-end by defeating the Oakland Ibericos 2 to 1 Sunday at the Oakland Trotting park. The scene of next Sunday's battle has not yet been decided upon. The title contest is expected to offer soccer fans of the east bay a well fought and close battle. The Phoenix club of Oakland finished the regular league schedule at the top of the league. It succeeded in defeating the local team in several fierce contests. However, the Richmond team has been showing an entirely new brand of playing lately, and should be able to keep the Oaklanders in control next Sunday.

CLAGSTONE TO ADDRESS C. C. DIRECTORS

Paul Clagstone, manager of the Western Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will speak on the National Business Survey Conference at a noon meeting of the directors of the Richmond chamber on Wednesday.

At the request of President Hoover a group of several hundred industrial leaders of the nation met recently at the headquarters of the National chamber in Washington to develop plans for coordination of activities to maintain business progress, at which a committee of 70 key men was appointed. Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of the chamber of commerce of the United States, was elected permanent chairman, and from this committee Barnes selected a smaller executive committee to build up a permanent organization to cooperate with the Federal government through the Department of Commerce, which, it is thought, will be as more effective than anything we have had in the past. President Hoover, in his address at the opening of the meeting, stressed the need of organization effort for the purpose of systematically spreading into industry as a whole the measures which have been taken by some of our leading industries to counteract any effect of business depression. He stated that the American mind is too prone to revert to previous occasions when we were much less able to organize to meet such situations.

Clagstone will discuss matters connected with the organization of business in local, national and international fields, though we will develop particular attention to problems vital to the west. He will speak concerning effect on business of legislation pending in congress, and will report on present activities of the National chamber. He will analyze the rapidly changing currents taking place in various fields of commercial activity.

P. M. Sanford, president of the Richmond chamber, will preside.

JURY ACCUSES MAN, WOMAN IN DEATH

under the machine being driven by Mrs. Mendoza. The car, Chandler said, was well up over the curb at Thirty-ninth street and Waller avenue in front of the school.

Mrs. Mendoza was the second witness called to the stand. She declared that Smith had appeared at the home where she was employed as a servant several times and that she had talked with him. She said that she had told Smith that she wanted to learn how to shift gears on a car and asked him to teach her.

Accident Hazy

On the day of the accident, Friday, she said Smith had permitted her to drive but had not told her how to stop the car.

She was unable to give a clear description of what had happened when her car struck Seawright. She said she had seen him some distance away before her car struck him. She declared that he was in the middle of the street at that time.

Smith was called to the stand and testified that he had not known the woman very well, and that she had asked him to let her drive the car. He said he would let her drive around the block.

Accident Told

Questioned by Coroner Wilson, Smith answered that he had not instructed the woman how to stop the car because he had believed from what she told him that she knew how.

He testified that Seawright had stepped off the curb in front of the school and that he, (Smith) saw that the car was going to strike him. Smith declared that he grasped the wheel of the machine in an effort to swerve it away from Seawright but that Mrs. Mendoza "froze" on the wheel and that he could not move it.

Seeing that he could not swerve the car, he testified, he grasped the emergency brake with his left hand, and applied it. It failed to stop the car, which was finally halted after it had gone over the curb.

Smith was closely questioned by Hoyer.

Widow's Statement

A statement made by Mrs. Seawright, widow of the deceased, was read into the records. In her statement Mrs. Seawright declared that her husband had told her at the hospital: "Don't let them kid you, dear; she hit me intentionally."

Traffic Officer R. S. Middleton testified to investigating the accident, declaring that the loose gravel on the streets showed that Seawright was dragged by the car. He answered a question put by Coroner Wilson by declaring that he did not see any signs of the brakes of the car being applied.

Charges Seen

Dr. L. St. John Hely testified as to the nature of Seawright's injuries and as to the cause of death. Immediately after the inquest Mrs. Mendoza was returned to the city jail. Smith was still at liberty last night.

Coroner Wilson and police officials indicated that formal charges will be preferred against Smith and Mrs. Mendoza this morning.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for W. L. Seawright will be conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel, with cremation to follow at the Berkeley crematory.

Rev. A. Pratt, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will officiate at the rites and members of the Kiwanis club, the Masons and Odd Fellows will assist in the services.

In respects to his memory, Richmond schools will close at two o'clock this afternoon.

Seawright's untimely death is mourned by the entire city. He had lived in Richmond seven years and had made a host of friends. He drilled into local athletes his ideals of good sportsmanship and fair play.

He organized the Richmond City Twilight Baseball league; the Richmond City Basketball league; was president of the Richmond Tennis club and was a director of the American Legion junior baseball league.

Seawright was 47 years of age and was a native of Indiana. He had lived in California 31 years and in Richmond seven years. During his residence here he was director of recreation at the local schools and was city recreational director.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Florence Seawright, a son, Donald, and a daughter, Sylvia. He also leaves his father, William Seawright, and a brother, Dr. W. E. Seawright, of Danville, Ill.

Girl Burned As Celluloid Combs Ignited

BERKELEY, March 24.—UP—Miss Phyllis Buchanan, senior student at the University of California, narrowly escaped serious injury today, when a set of celluloid combs with which she had "set" her hair, became ignited by an electric heater.

The girl had washed her hair, and was drying it before the heater, when the inflammable combs blazed up.

The girl quickly ran to a faucet and plunged her head under the water, extinguishing the flames before they could inflict serious injury.

A physician treated her at her home for burns on the scalp.

EUREKA, March 24.—(UP).—The body of a young woman, about 25 years of age and well dressed, was discovered by State highway commission workers, Joseph Wilson and James Bowie, two miles south of the Humboldt and Del Norte county line tonight.

The girl, a blonde, with curly hair, had apparently been dead for at least two weeks, according to the men who discovered the body.

Coroner Oscar Swanson and Deputy Sheriff Charles Cavagnaro left for the north to investigate, with only meager details to work on so far. The body was hidden behind a redwood log, about ten feet from the highway.

Footprints near the car indicated a third person may have been implicated, but a suicide theory was advanced.
